Program No. 3 - CBHEPA Broiler Breeder Research Scholarship

Through this program CBHEPA will provide grants for one or two University students (3rd year or graduate students). These scholarships will provide an opportunity for a student to study and perform a short-term broiler breeder research project at a University or research facility in Canada. The cost associated to the presentation of the project results to an international congress are eligible.

The selected participant will be asked to prepare a detailed report and a article to be published in the Agency's newsletter the "Edge".

This program is open to students studying poultry science in Canada. Applicants are asked to prepare a written submission outlining the project and the expected benefits to hatching egg producers in Canada.

Applicants interested in participating in this program should submit their application by February 8, 2008.
